A message from City Council Leader, Councillor David Mellen

“ I’m so proud of the way Nottingham has come together to meet the challenge of Covid-19

We’ve worked together to keep vital services running, protect vulnerable people, ensure PPE supplies get through to the frontline and help keep local businesses going. Whether it’s looking in on your neighbour, shopping for vulnerable citizens or standing in solidarity at a Black Lives Matter protest, Nottingham people can be proud of the way they have supported each other since the outbreak of Covid-19.

The pandemic has caused a massive shock to economies around the world having a major impact on construction projects with the retail sector and high streets particularly badly hit. Despite our disappointment over the collapse of the development of the Broadmarsh shopping centre, we now have an opportunity to start to develop a new, sustainable plan for the future of the whole Broadmarsh site.

Although we cannot do this without partnership and investment. Broadmarsh is an extremely important site at the heart of the city centre and it is vital that we maximise its potential as part of the wider regeneration, improving the quality of life for local people.

“ The financial impact of Covid-19 on the Council is around £87.9 million

As you’ll know, we already face significant financial challenges following a decade of Government grant funding for the City Council being cut by over £100 million per year. These financial challenges have been made much worse by Covid-19.

The financial impact of Covid-19 on the Council is around £87.9 million – this is the cost of having to increase our spending to support people whilst also losing our income from things like leisure centres, trade waste services, car parks and many other areas.

Promises from the Government “to stand shoulder to shoulder” with councils to support them through this crisis have so far fallen far short of meeting these challenges and we now face a significant budget shortfall having only received a fraction of our costs. We know what services matter most to Nottingham people and in order to keep delivering essential services we all value like parks, care workers, leisure centres and libraries, Nottingham needs more investment and for the Government to make good on its promises to each and every one of us.

STEP UP

Now the Government must

PAY UP

Councillors have prioritised services for the most vulnerable residents, protected free universal services such as bulky waste collections, a free garden waste bin and 2 free resident parking permits and defended parks, community centres, libraries, care services and leisure centres.

Councillor Sam Webster, the Council's Portfolio Holder for Finance, said:

“ The current crisis has seen Nottingham's key workers step up when they were needed most. Thousands of our front line, key workers are employed directly or indirectly by Nottingham City Council; care workers, bus drivers, bin lorry crews, meal-on-wheels service, Community Protection Officers, park rangers and many, many more.

These people have helped us through the crisis, they've kept our vital services running and helped to protect our most vulnerable residents, we couldn't have come this far without them.

The clear message to Government from Nottingham is to honour our key workers and our communities by funding the costs of Covid as was promised.

City Council forced to make budget cuts as Government fails to

COVER THE COST OF COVID

The Government's failure to fully cover the costs of the Covid pandemic has forced Nottingham City Council to make an additional £12.5m of budget cuts which will affect local services.

The Council has seen estimated costs and lost income due to Covid-19 soar to £87.9 million since the pandemic began. Emergency funding has been needed to care for older and vulnerable people and provide PPE while at the same time income has been lost from leisure centres, trade waste services, car parks and many other areas.

Nottingham has only received £23.5 million of extra Government funding so far, just 27% of the total cost of Covid, leaving a major hole in the Council's finances.

The current crisis comes on top of a decade of austerity which has seen Government grant funding for the City Council cut by over £100 million per year. This has meant that difficult decisions have had to be made in order to meet the legal requirement to balance the budget in the current year.

A range of emergency savings proposals have been made which will result in a reduction of 154 posts (full time equivalent) although the Council will seek to meet this through the deletion of vacant posts and voluntary redundancies where possible.

Measures include:

Day Centres – closing one day centre for people with disabilities while maintaining access to a day centre for all users

Apprentices – delaying the employment of apprentices until next April, saving £450,000 in total

On street parking machines – replacing most parking machines with cashless machines, promoting pay by phone and card payments

Parking permits – introducing a charge of £25 for households requesting a third residents parking permit, renewable every 2 years

Civic roles – reducing the ceremonial duties of the Lord Mayor

Bulwell Hall Golf Course – closing the course from November 2020 and seeking an external operator

Play Areas – closing a small number of underused play areas and those requiring significant improvement.

A consultation on the budget proposals has been launched. Have your say at www.nottinghamcity.gov.uk/covidbudget

Thank you

We have been completely blown away by how people have come together to help each other during these tough times.

#NottinghamTogether

WELCOME BACK TO YOUR CITY!

Nottingham has started to carefully and safely reopen to more people as the Government eases lock down restrictions.

But as we get back to a 'new normal,' we all still need to stay safe. We have had lower rates of infection than elsewhere in the country, thanks to the way people in Nottingham have taken steps to protect themselves and others.

But Covid-19 is still present in our city, and as we reopen shops, workplaces and services in Nottingham, it's important that we continue to prevent its spread. We all need to do our bit to stay safe.

Let's stop the spread of Covid-19 together:

Maintain social distance

Keep left on pavements and pathways

Wear a face covering in shops and on public transport

Wash hands with soap and water for 20 seconds

Self-isolate if you have symptoms and to get a test call 119 or visit www.gov.uk/guidance/coronavirus-covid-19-getting-tested

This information is being translated into different languages and formats and will be available here: www.nottinghamcity.gov.uk/coronavirus/translations

If you need help you can still call the council

During July, the advice to people who are shielding has changed. We know this may cause concern for some extremely vulnerable people. We want you to know, if you need help, you can still call the council.

We can put you in touch with the community groups, volunteers and food banks offering support in your neighbourhood.

What if we have a 'local lockdown' in Nottingham?

Please be assured that if we do see an increase in Covid-19 in Nottingham, the City Council has a Local Outbreak Control Plan that will help us work with our partners to identify hotspots and take action to control the spread of the virus. The Local Outbreak Control Plan is available here:

Want to help? Use the map to find your nearest food bank and drop off a food donation.

Rent your home? Worried about eviction? know your rights

It's been tough for both renters and landlords during the pandemic. But it's important everyone knows their rights regarding evictions:

It is currently illegal to evict anyone from their rented home.

To evict a renter a landlord needs court documents (called Section 21). The courts are closed for eviction cases until 23 August 2020 so landlords can't get the documents until then.

If tenants are being asked to leave their property then they can contact the council for help saferhousing@nottinghamcity.gov.uk

If a landlord is at the door, trying to forcibly remove tenants, call 999 immediately.

The Council's Safer Housing team is supporting landlords who are licence holders in the city. If you don't have a licence to rent a property then you need one. To get info on applying and what help is available for you email selective.licensing@nottinghamcity.gov.uk

Your vote matters!

It's really important that everyone who is entitled to vote is able to do so.

Each year our Electoral Services team conduct an annual canvass to ensure the electoral register is accurate and up-to-date.

If we have your contact details you might soon receive an email or a text message telling you what you need to do to register - please respond as soon as you can.

If we don't have your phone number or email address, then you will receive a paper form through the post. If the form asks you to respond then please try to do this online or you can post it back to us.

Work to begin on exciting new city gateway

Despite the city's troubles, our long-awaited transformation of streets around the Broadmarsh area will begin in early August as planned.

Collin Street is an exciting new public space for the city centre.

Instead of eight lanes of traffic and a dated car park, future visitors will be greeted by an open, vibrant and welcoming green space.

Collin Street and Carrington Street will be home to the city's new Central Library, and the former roads will become a relaxing pedestrianised green space for everyone to enjoy.

The Sussex Street area, between Middle Hill and the newly built Nottingham College City Hub, inaccessible and unwelcoming for some time, will be transformed into a bright, amphitheatre style space. Steps from Middle Hill to Sussex Street will lead to a new area to relax and play, with spaces for activity and exercise, including skateboarding and cycling.

Traffic changes

Once complete, these major works will see:

Collin Street closed to all traffic

Canal Street closed to traffic after its junction with Middle Hill, except for buses, taxis and cyclists

Traffic flow on Canal Street becomes two way for buses and taxis

Traffic flow on Greyfriar Gate, which runs between the NCP Car Park and Ocean nightclub, reversed from northbound to southbound

Traffic flow on Middle Hill, which runs between the tram viaduct and Broadmarsh Car Park site, changed from one-way southbound to become a two-way route.

Can you help a

GREEN RECOVERY

Coronavirus lockdown has had some environmental benefits. Less traffic, better air quality and less litter (although fly-tipping has still been a problem).

Of course we all want to 'get back to normal' but can we help Nottingham to have a green recovery?

At the council we're working on transforming transport, housing and energy use to meet the challenge of climate change and be carbon neutral by 2028.

Here's some simple steps you could take to support Nottingham's 2028 ambition:

ENERGY

Check out warmhouseshub.com | 0115 985 3000 for loads of simple tips to reduce energy and save money on your bills

Go green by switching to a renewable energy tariff

Visit www.simpleenergyadvice.org.uk for tips to make your house more energy efficient

TRANSPORT

Save ~~£££~~ and reap the health benefits of walking or cycling – especially for short journeys

Can you reduce your need to travel? It might be possible for you to work from home or video call people instead

WASTE AND WATER

Did you know, just by spending one less minute in a daily shower, you can save ~~£££~~ a year!

Some people still waste food, yet you can save ~~£££~~ just by planning meals

THINGS YOU BUY

We love a bit of upcycled fashion with quality second hand clothes and homeware

Food like meat is expensive, if you're not veggie already, why not try meat-free Mondays?

BEE FRIENDLY!

Grow your own veg, herbs and bee-friendly plants. Even if you're not green fingered, or don't have a garden, tasty veg like potatoes are really cheap and easy to grow in old pots

Find out more about Nottingham's green ambitions

Love your parks...

no seriously, please!

We know the vast majority of Nottingham people love our parks. Our green spaces have been a lifeline for most of us during lockdown.

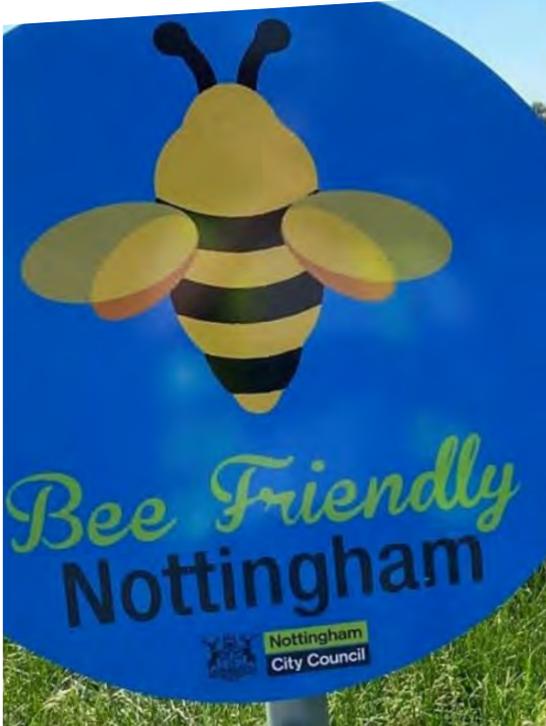

Sadly, we still see people leave huge amounts of litter behind – especially on hot days.

We try to put out extra bins on hot days, but during lockdown our clean crews have been really stretched. They've worked incredibly hard to deal with lots of extra household waste and also cover for workmates who can't work due to Covid-19.

Please, help us to keep our parks beautiful.

Please take litter home.

*Someone wise once said...
Take only photographs and leave only footprints*

Bee-friendly Nottingham

We all know bees are dying due to disease, farming changes, habitat loss and climate change.

Back in 2014 we launched a campaign to help bees by providing more flowers and more places for bees to live.

Recently you may have noticed some signs popping up in parks and open spaces. They highlight flower beds, meadow areas and other ways we're working to help Nottingham's bees.

Visit www.nottinghamcity.gov.uk/bees to find out more. Search 'Nottingham Parks' and follow us on Facebook and Twitter.

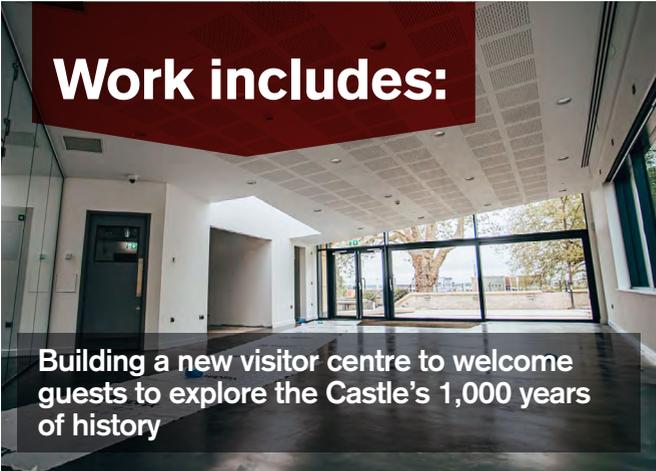

News from the NOTTINGHAM CASTLE PROJECT

Despite Covid-19, the transformation of Nottingham Castle has continued, providing a world-class visitor destination for years to come.

Work on the site is still on track to be completed by the end of the year with a view to welcoming visitors in early 2021.

Work includes:

Building a new visitor centre to welcome guests to explore the Castle's 1,000 years of history

Improved accessibility and lighting for our popular cave tours

Creating new spaces for digital exhibits including the Robin Hood virtual archery and quarterstaff interactive games

Renovation and restoration of the Long Gallery

- Creating new display panels to tell the fascinating story of the Castle's history
- Producing a stunning 3D recreation of Nottingham Castle in 1485
- Creating an exciting adventure play space

Things to do this summer!

We know babies and toddlers are very little but if fun ideas and activities are introduced now, children are more likely to be ready to start school, be happier at school and go on to do really well in life.

1-5
year olds

Grow some seeds in an old yoghurt pot

Sing your favourite nursery rhymes – don't forget the actions!

Make an animal noise and let somebody guess what it is

Play your favourite songs and have your own disco

Find five things that are yellow in your house

Go on a walk and find something of each colour of the rainbow

Choose a book to read together

Get some boxes, pots and pans and bang them like a drum

Stick some tape to the floor, zig zag, straight or curly and walk along it

Find a cardboard box and pretend it's a train choo choo!

Cut a photo or picture in to big pieces and make your own jigsaw

Make a mud pie in some pots and pans

See if you can poke dried spaghetti pasta through the holes in a colander

Draw a face on an old sock to make a sock puppet

Paint a rock and leave it out for another child to find

Go outside and look for bugs and creepy crawlies

Turn lunch time into a teddy bears picnic

Feed the birds

If it's raining, splash in puddles

Make a music shaker – just fill an empty bottle with rice
